ADDRESSING HEALTH DISPARITIES WHAT HEALTH PRACTITIONERS AND ADULT BASIC EDUCATORS CAN DO TOGETHER

AUGUST 4TH | 2PM EASTERN TIME

ONLINE VIA GOTOMEETING

U.S. adults struggle with significant health challenges. These problems disproportionately affect lower-income communities and individuals with basic skills limitations who have fewer resources to prevent or respond to health issues.

The COVID-19 pandemic has made these health disparities painfully clear. Learn how public health practitioners and ABE programs can partner to:

- Deliver accurate, clear public health messaging to at-risk individuals and their families and communities;
- Help those individuals access quality healthcare services;
- Provide empowering health-related teaching and learning in a supportive education environment.

This webinar is offered to adult educators and public health practitioners by the Open Door Collective, a national program of Literacy Minnesota.
